Synopsis of Mr. Seward's Speech.

Mr. Seward took the floor. He said congress reassembled this winter in the presence of derangement of business and the disturbance of public as well as private credit, and in the face of seditious combinations to overthrow the Union. The alarm is appalling, for the Union is not more the body than liberty is the soul of the nation. He avowed his adherence to the Union and its integrity in all its parts, "with my friends with my party, with my state, with my country, or without either, as they may determine, in every event, whether of peace or war, with every consequence of honor or dishonor, or life or death."

After stating that the Union cannot be saved by mutual recriminations or continu-ance of debate on the constitutional power of congress over the subject of slavery in the territories, or discussing the right of the federal government to coerce secoding states into obedience, he says, if this Union is to go, the latter question will give way to a more practicable one, whether many seceding states have a right to coerce the remain ng members to acquiesce in dissolution .--He abhorred civil war, did not know wha the Union would be worth if saved by the sword; yet, he said he did not agree with those who desire to avert the columity or advise conventional or unopposed separation with a view to what they call a "re-construction of the Union."

The Union can be dissolved, not by secession, but by the voluntary consent of the people of the United States. Congress ought not to remain impassive. It ought, if it can, redress any real grievances to the offended states, and then ought to supply the president with all means necessary to maintain the Union in the full and discreet exercise of its authority. Beyond this, with proper activity on the part of the executive the responsibility of saving the Union belongs to the people, and they are abundantly competent to discharge it.

Mr. Seward argued at length on the advantages of the Union and effect of disunion from all points of views. What is the ground of discontent? It is that the disunionists did not accept as conclusive the arguments urged in behalf of the success ful candidate in the late canvass. He said the constitution did not require the arguments of one party to be satisfactory to another, and said the constitutional remedy for the inevitable dissatisfaction is in renewed debates and ultimate rehearing in a subsequent election. He denied that the republicans perverted power for the pur-pose of oppression, for they never yet held power.

After further remarks, he said he agreed that as concerns the bondamen, the laws of the state within which a man is property, are supreme, and that on his escape to another state the constitution regards him a bondsman who shall be delivered on claim to the party to whom his service is due. While he thought the acts of con-gress on the subject should be modified to prevent freemen being carried into slavery, he agrees that all the laws of states, free or slave, relating to this class of persous, contravening the constitution of the United States, ought to be repealed, and was willing to vote for an amendment to the constitution, that congress should never have the power to abolish or interfere with slavery within the states.

If Kansas were admitted under the Wyandotte Constitution and the organic laws of other territories could be repealed, he would vote to authorize the admission of the new states which should include them reserving the right to offer the sub-division. wherever necessary, into several converstates; but he did not find that such regulations could be constitutionally made. Without them, the ulterior embarrass.

ments would outweigh all the immediate advantage of such a measure. I prefer, when the angry excitements of the house should have subsided, one, two or three years hence, a convention of the people to decide whether any or what amendments of the organic national laws ought to be made. He was ready to vote for any properly guaranteed laws to prevent mutual invasions of the states by citizens of other states, and to punish those who shall aid or abet

Lastly, he was in favor of the Pacific railroad. Mr. Seward concluded by saying: I shall cheerfully support the government in what-ever prudent yet energetic efforts it shall make to preserve public peace and maintain the Union, advising only moderation, forbearance and conciliation, and by ex-pressing the conviction that the hour has not yet come for this great nation to fall. Woe, wee to the man that madly lifts his hand against it. It shall continue and endure, and men in after times shall declare that this generation, which saved the Union from sudden and unlooked for danger, surpassed in magnificence even that one which laid its foundation on the eternal principles of Liberty, Justice and Humanity. RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 12.

The banquet to Gov. Floyd took place last night. Gov. Floyd made a speech, and related the conversation he had with the president, showing a breach of faith on the part of the president, leading to his (Floyd's) resignation. Gov. Floyd connseled resistance to federal coercion. Secession speeches were then made by Lient-Gov. Montague, Attorney-Gen. Tucker, Jas. A. Seddon and others. The temporizing policy of the legislature is severely commented upon. Great enthusiasm prevailed.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 12 The following is one of a series of resolutions that passed the Ohio senate and house to day.

Resolved, That we hail with joy the recent firm, dignified and patriotic special message of the president of the U.S., and that the entire power and resources of Ohio are hereby pledged, whenever necessary and demanded, for the maintainance, under strict subordination to the civil authority of the constitution and laws of the general government, by whomsoever administered.

Smith, and Hon. Amos Tuck, of New Smith, and Hon. Amos Tuck, of New Hampshire. The party will proceed to New York, via Buffalo, and after a few days's stay to make purchases for the White House, will go to Cambridge in order to visit Mr. Lincoln's son, who is at Harvard College.

The resolution was adopted.

In the senate, Bigler proposed an amendment to the constitution, upon which the people are to vote on the 12th of February, which elicited considerable debate. Gwinn introduced a resolution enquiring into the interference of the navigation of the Mississippi river. A vote was taken on postponing the Kansas bill. Yeas 24-noes 27.

The Crittenden Amendment.

As the proposition of Mr. Crittenden of Ky., for the settlement of the dispute in relation to slavery, is more prominent than others, and likely to concentrate the greatest support of the compromises, north and south, we give the following synopsis of it: It proposes amendments to the constitution

1st. Slavery is prohibited north of 36° 30'-south of that line it is recognized and "shall be protected as property by all the departments of the territorial government." When states are formed, north or south of that line, they shall be admitted with or without slavery, as the constitution of the state may provide.

2d. Congress shall not have power to abolish slavery in places under its exclusive jurisdiction

3d. Congress shall not have power to abolish slavery in the District of Columbia, so long as it exists in Virginia and Maryland, nor without the consent of the inhab itants nor without compensation to owners. Nor shall congress prohibit government officers from bringing their slaves with them into the District.

4th. Congress shall have no power to state to another.

5th. Where marshals are prevented from arresting fugitive slaves, or when rescued after arrest, or the owner obstructed in the parsuit of his slave, the United States to pay for the slave. Counties where slaves broken down, to all appearances, and he are rescued, or the master prevented by vi- certainly must be if there is a spark of the olence or intimidation from arresting them, to pay the United States the value, interest and damages, so paid to the owner-the counties to collect from the rescuers.

6th. No future amendment of the constitution shall affect the five preceding articles; nor the third paragraphs of the second and fourth sections of the constitution; nor shall congress abolish slavery in the states.

Resolved, 1st. That the fugitive slave law is constitutional and ought not to be modified so as to impair its efficiency, and that those who rescue slaves or hinder or defeat the due execution of the fugitive slave law ought to be punished by law.

2d. Recommends the repeal of the personal liberty laws, or correction of them so as to prevent them from being used for mischievous purposes.

3d. That the fugitive slave law of 1850 ought to be amended so as to make the fee of the commissioner equal whether the decision is for or against the claimant; and to limit the authority of the marshal to summon the posse comitatus to aid him in arresting the fogitive, to cases where there shall be resistance or danger of resistance or rescue.

4. That the laws against the African slave trade be made effectual and thorough-

We have given above a fair synopsis of the Crittenden amendment. There might be much said in relation to the various propositions contained in it, had we time

It will be observed that this compromise is different from the Missouri compromise in this-that it provides for a constitutional slave code for all the territory now owned or hereafter to be acquired, south of 36°30'. The old compromise said nothing about the protection of slavery in any territory south of 36°30'-it simply prohibited it north of that line, and allowed it to take its chances south under a congressional provision. It is certainly a cool proposition, after the south has repudiated the Missouri compromise line, and after the people have elected a president directly upon the issue of the prohibition of slavery from all our territories, to ask us to sanction the curse of human bondage, by con- in amendments to their banking law.

stitutional amendment, in the whole of North America, south of the line of 36°30', which is never to be changed! The other four provisions succeeding this are also propositions which are so monstrous that the people of the north cannot accept them. are far beyond the Breckinridge platform, which the Douglas democracy repudiated, as it provides that in no future contingency, so long as the government lasts, shall the protection of slavery be blotted from the constitution-the words slave and slavery, which do not now pollute that sacred instrument, are to be introduced into it, to ry citizen of every state should desire to expunge them! Such a devilish scheme as this can never be accepted by a free all its horrors. If this is all that the conservative border states, with their doughface allies in the north, have to offer, they In the House, on the 14th, Mr. English osition in vain. If this is a compromise

There is not the slightest probability that these amendments can ever be sanctioned by three-fourths of the states, but if it should be, we predict that the anti-slavery agitation at the north would be greater than ever before, and would finally result in a revolution, ten fold more dangerous than the one which now afflicts the country.-Let the compromisers think of this.

Mr. Seward's Speech.

The brief telegraphic synopsis of Mr. Srward's speech does not give us a sufficient idea of its main points and arguments upon which to predicate comments. We prefer to have the whole speech before us, that there may be no mistake in relation to his serum, would produce a greater amount of positions. The fact that he has received and compression of the brain; don't think the accepted the offer of the position of secretary of state, under Mr. Lincoln, renders his opinions highly important at this time. Danger to the Capital.

The best informed men at Washington consider the danger of an attack upon the capital imminent. A secret society called they could precipitate two thousand men updefend the public buildings. The hope now is that Gen. Scott will take immediate measures to surround the capital with men enough to defend it. Certainly such a course is imperatively demanded, and the people expect to see every thing done, necessary to secure a peaceful inauguration of the incoming president. If the regular ar land; have heard most of Dr. Jones' testimy is not sufficient, a call should be made upon the states.

THE EXACT DISTANCES OF THE FORTS .-An officer of the U.S. survey gives the following measurements, as taken from the atest surveys made by the coast survey de partment: Fort Sumpter is three and threeeighths miles from Charleston, one and one eighth miles from Fort Moultrie, three quarters of a mile to the nearest land, one and three-eighths miles to Fort Johnson, and condition of the deceased was such that a two and five-eighths miles from Castle Pinck- less cause would cause insensibility and ney. The last named fort is one mile from the town, and Fort Johnson is two and a quarter miles from the town.

His eyes and cheeks are sadly sunken, his clothes feel the want of a tailor or seamstress, and he has all the appearace f a man who might almost as well be dead as alive.

At the same time it cannot be denied that society, must expect to suffer the bitter consequences. And yet he could have obtained his freedom long since, but for what sticklers for the law, cannot but pity him now, and acknowledge that the iron digni-ty of the law has been fully vindicated.— His offence has been more than atoned be an act of humanity were he now set at liberty.— Wisconsin.

Whatever wrong Booth may have done, (and we are not sure that he did any wrong in the Glover matter.) and however perverse he may have been, he has had enough of punishment and misfortune. We believe it s nearly a unanimous wish of the people that he should be relieved from imprisonment, and we hope all parties will unite in asking this act of clemency from the government.

The President has got rid of all the secessionists from his cabinet, the last of them, Jacob Thompson of the interior department, having resigned. Gen. Dix, a thorough Union man, has been appointed secretary of the treasury. Secretary Holt and Gen. Scott now run the war depart ment to suit themselves. We trust that the rumored appointment of Butler, of Ky., to this department is not true, as he is a sympathizer with the traitors,

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14. Personal friends of the president say it is decided not to reinforce Ft. Sumpter, because sending more troops there would tend to produce irritation, and reinforcements are nunecessary.

A telegram was received from Governor Moore by Fitzpatrick to night, saying that the ordinance of secession had passed. Militia field officers, recently appointed, vere commissioned to day by the President. It has been decided to send the name of Mr. Holliman to the senate for Secretary of War, to morrow, and Greenwood, now com-missioner of Indian affairs, for secretary of Interior. He is a Union man.

The Charleston papers state that a resolution was adopted on Monday, in the legislature, requesting the bank of South Carolina to advance $150,000 for military contingencies, and that the bank has signified a willingness to comply. The above item of $150,000, is merely for contingencies, while expenditures for military purposes, already accrued, amount to $400,000.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.

The house, among other preliminary bus-iness, Mr. Harris of Md., presented a me-morial signed by 12,000 citizens of Baltimore, irrespective of party, praying for the adoption of the Crittenden compromise.-He said if there was a desire to tranquilize the public mind it could not be more effectually done than by the adoption of that measure. The house went into committee on the army bill. Mr. Reagan, of Texas, said he came here with the hope that such measures might be brought forward, by those who have the power to control the question, as would assure the south of full security. The republicans have held sullenly back, and declare that they have no terms of peace to offer. In view of such a state of things four states have seceded, FOUND.-There are three Gloves at the Gazette Office awaiting the call of the several owners.

FOUND .- A box, containing several articles of woman's work, has been left at this office for an owner.

REMOVAL .- Mr. Vanderwarf has removed his stock of goods to one of the new stores in Myers' block. His friends will find him in his new quarters ready to answer their calls and furnish them with a good article at a low price.

Orrin Guernsey was elected a director of the Madison Mutual Insurance Company at the recent election of officers. Mr. Guernsey has been, and still is, an efficient local agent of this company, and will make a good director.

Don't fail to attend Dr. Jewett's lecture this evening at Lappin's Hall, at 7 o'elock.

ANOTHER EMPLEM. We have received from the friend in Teanesse who furnished us the secession cockade, a Palmetto medal, which it may gratify the curiosity of our friends to see. If any one desires to see a substantial and lasting memorial of the folly of South Carolina, he can give us a call and witness it.

RAILROAD TTANSPORTATION.—The attention of shippers of freight and stock is directed to the advertisment of the Galena and Chicago railroad. The facilities for shipment on this road, and the care and attention bestowed upon freight are such as to warrant satisfaction to shippers.

STARTLING RUMOR!-We hear a report that the secessionists have purchased the steamboat, Queen of the West, lately running on the river above this city, for privateering on northern commerce on Rock river. Where is Jehu, the United States marshal? Has the reporter of the "associated press" got the news?

UR. JEWETT'S LECTURE .- Owing to a misunderstanding, the meeting last evening was not as fully attended as it ought to have been, yet the audience was a highly appreciative one, and all speak in the highest terms of the lecture. It was learned, philosophical and instructive. His allusions to Dr. Holmes, the author of "The Autocrat at the Breakfast Table," " Professor's Story," etc., and to Burns, Thomas Campbell, Sheridan and Edgar Allen Poe were extremely felicitous, and his anecdotes mirth provoking.

HELDACHE is the favorite sign by which nature makes known any deviation whatever from the natural state of the brain, and viewed in this light it may be tooked on as a safeguard intended to give notice of disease which might otherwise escape attention, till too late to be romedied; and its indications should never be neglected. Headaches may be classified under two names, it: Symptomatic and Idiopathic. Symptomatic headache is exceedingly common and is the precursor of a great variety of diseases, among which are Apoplexy, tout, Rheumatism and all fubrile diseases. In its nervous form it is sympathetic of disease of the stomedoconstituting siele beadache, of hepatic disease constituting bitious headache, of worms, constipation and other disorders of the bowels, as well as renal and uterine affections. Ibscaese of the heart are very frequently attended with headaches; Ausemia and plethora are also affections which frequently occasion headache, edicating beache is also very common, being usually distinguished by the name of nervous headache, sometimes coming on suddenly in a state of apparently sound health and prostrating at once the mental and physical energies, and in other instances it comes on slowly, heraided by depression of spirits or acerbity of temper—in most instances the pain is in the front of the head, over one or both eyes, and sometimes provoking vemiting; under this class may also menume and safe remedy, relieving the most soute points in a few minutes, and by its subtle power eradicating the diseases of which headaches is the unwerting index. HEADACHE is the favorite sign by which nature

Constipation or Costiveness.

No one of the "many illy flesh is heir to" is so prevalent, so little understood, and so much neglected as conferenses. Other originating in curelessness, or sedentary hypite; it is regarded as a slight disorder of too little consequence to excite anxiety, white in resulty it is the precursor and companion of many of the most fault and dangerous discusses, and unless early cradicated it will bring the sunferer to an antimety grave. Among the ligature evils of which costiveness is the usual attendant are Headache, Cohe, Rheumatisen, Ford Breath, Files and others of like nature, white a long train of frightful discuser such as Mulighant Fevers, Abcesses, Dyentary, Darrhuss, Dyeppina, Apoplexy, Enthysia, Hysteria, Hypothondrinsis, McIncholy and Insanity, first indicate their presence in the system by this tary, Diarritosa, Dyspepsia, apopiexy, Epinepsy, Eurity-sis, Hysterics, Hypoconoulrinois, dicharcholy and Insani-ty, first indicate their presence in the system by this alarming symptom. Not unfrequently the diseases named originate in Constitution, but take on an inde-named originate in Constitution, but take on an inde-nal existence unless the cause is eradicated in an early stage, /From all these considerations is follows that the disorder should receive immediate attention whenever it occurs and no nerson should neglect to get whenever is occurs, and no person should neglect to get be soon of Cephalic Pitts on the first appearance of the complaint, as their timest yes will expel the insiduous approaches of disease and destroy this dangerous foe to companie.

Physician.—Well, Mrs. Jones, how is your headache?

Advis. Jones.—Gonel Doctor, all gone! the pill you sent cured me in just twenty minutes, and I wish you would send more so that I can have them handy.

Physician.—You can get them at any Druggists.—Call for Cephalic Pills, I find they nover fail, and I recommend them in all cases of beadache.

Mrs. Jones.—I shall send for a box directly, and shall tell all my suffering friends, for they are a real blessing.

Twenty Millions of Dollars Savep.—Mr. Spalding has sold two millions of bottles of his celebrated Prepared Glue and it is estimated that each bottle saves at tens ten dollars worth of broken furniture, thus making ar aggregate of twenty millions of dollars reclaimed from total loss by this valuable invention. Having made his glue a household word, he now proposes to do the world still greater service by curing all the aching heads with his Cephalic Pills, and if they are as good as his glue, headache will soon vanish away like snow in July.

FO OVER EXCITENENT, and the mental care and anxiety incident to close attention to business or study, are among the numerous causes of nervous handacho. The disordered state of mind and body incident to this discressing complaint is a fatal blow to all energy and ambition. Sufferers by this disorder can always obtain speedy relief from these distressing attacks, by using one of the Cephatic Pills whenever the symptoms appear. It quiets the overtasked brain, and soothes the strained and jarring nerves, and rolaxes the tension of the stomach which slways accompanies and aggravates the disordered condition of the brain.

Yor'H Enowing.—Spaiding's Cephalic Phils are n cure for Sick Hoadache, Bilions Headache, Headache, Costiveness and General Debility.

GREAT DISCOVERY—Among the most important of all the great medical discoveries of this age may be considered the system of vaccination for protection from Smull Pox, the Cephalic Fill for relial of headache, and the use of Quinine for the provention of fevers, either of which is a sure specific, whose bonefits will be experienced by suffering humanity long after their discoverges are forcesten.

Did yon ever have the sick headache? Do you remember the throbbing temples, the levered brow, the loathing and disgust at the eight of food. How totally unfit you were for pleasure, conversation or study.—One of the Cephalic Pills would have relieved you from all the suffering which you then experienced. For this and other purposes you should always have a box of them on hand to use as occasion requires.

By the use of these pills the periodic attacks of Ner-vous or Sich Headache may be prevented; and if taken at the commencement of an attack immediate relief from pain and sickness will be obtained. They soldom fell in removing Nuusea and Headacks o which females are so subject.

They act gently upon the bowels,-removing Costive

For Literary Men, Students, delicate females, and all ons of sedentary habits, they are valuable as a Lawative, improving the appetite, giving tone and vigor to the digestive organs, and restoring the natural elasticity and strength of the whole system.

| | The CEPHALIC PILLS are the result of long invest igation and carefully conducted experiments, having been in use many years, during which time they have prevented and relieved a vast amount of pain and suffering from headache, whether originating in the nervous system or from a deranged state of the stomach. They are entirely vegetable in their composition, and may be taken at all times with parfect fafety without making any change of diet, and the absence of any disagreeable taste renders it easy to administer them to chil

THE above are First Class, justly popular, and prompt paying companies. They invite investigation into their condition and solicit business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solvener and reliability and honorable dealing, they have but few opacis, and no superiors. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first class bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brocklyn—excurities that have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below pars, and are every way more reliable and permanent than railroad, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuations of the market, and liable, in times of partic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become aimest, if not entirely, valueless. And without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reinsure their outstanding risks, the above anned companies always have and keep over and above their capital twice the amount, and innest instances finer times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and without such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal patronage.

Policie issued without delay, und farms risks for a series of years taken at leas rates than can be done by Mutual Companies, and a certainty given instead of an uncertainty. All loses promptly adjusted and paid.
